Foreword

The tradition, present, and future, of a university are founded upon the character of the work done by its graduates.

For it is only by this outward manifestation of the ideals, standards, and training promulgated therein that the value of our institution to society can be measured.

Therefore, the most worthy contribution to our University by the alumni is the high quality of their work wherever they may be placed.

If, through these pages, we have portrayed this outstanding contribution to the present and future of our University, we will have achieved our purpose.

Dedication

To our alumni = in recognition of the outstanding contributions they are making to the present and future development of our University through the high character of their work, wherever they may be.

Mr. Doyle E. Carlton

A prominent lawyer in both Florida and the South, Mr. Doyle E. Carlton has achieved a large measure of success by his venture into politics. As governor of Florida from 1929 to 1933, Mr. Carlton has indicated his capabilities in being a good leader. After graduating from Stetson University he did graduate work at the University of Chicago, and at Columbia. He began his law practise in Tampa, Florida, in 1915. He married Miss Nell Ray of Tampa. They have three children. In 1917 Mr. Carlton was elected to the state senate for a period of two years. Following this position in politics he became City Attorney for Tampa, and then entered the race for governorship in which he was successful. Mr. Carlton is listed in the Who's Who. He is an active member of the Masons and the Shrine, the Knights of Pythias, the Moose, the Elks, and the Kiwanis Club.

WILLIAM SIMS ALLEN, A.M.
PH.D., LL.D.

President of the University

The President's Message

The session 1939-40 has been high in achievements. The scholarship record is higher than ever before. Scholarship, next to the development of Christian character, is the primary business of the University. Students continue to give their best efforts toward the attainment of high standards in every school, department and activity. Student government has been stronger than in any previous year. An honor system has been approved and is in process of development. The faculty members are outstanding Christian scholars. Twenty-six of them have the Doctor of Philosophy degree or its equivalent. Ten are members of Phi Beta Kappa. Seventeen of the twenty departments in the College of Arts and Sciences are headed by men and women with the Doctor's degree. Social, cultural and religious ideals are ever stressed. Thus Stetson continues to go forward.

I take this opportunity to extend greetings and good wishes to the student body and to the Stetson family everywhere.

Sincerely,
William Sims Allen,
President

Freshman Representative:			Robert Blount

The student government bodies on the campus have shown a progressive function under the new constitution which was drawn up last year. Specified standing committees have been named this year to take care of Orientation Week, the rules and procedure of elections, and extra-curricular activities. A social committee was also named, and this group met with the faculty to plan such entertainments as the Sadie Hawkins Frolic. Under the new constitution of the student government the Liberal Arts College for the first time separated from the Music and Law schools to elect its own officers, and a student executive committee was formed of the presidents of each of the three colleges, as well as the head of the student body. Under the new constitution of the student government the students have exercised more freedom of expression, and more cooperation has been affected between the pupils, the officers, and the administration. The student government has been active in acquiring funds for a swimming pool. An honor system was also discussed, and a vote given to accept such a system in the future if investigation by an honor system committee would find it practicable.

Dr. D. J. Blocker

The present head of the Department of Sociology at William and Mary College, Dr. Daniel J. Blocker is a well-known educator and theologian. Since graduating from the Stetson Academy in 1905, Prof. Blocker's life has been spent in enriching the educational and spiritual outlook of others. Dr. Blocker was a member of the Stetson faculty from 1913 until 1920. The university conferred upon him the honorary degree of D.D. in 1917. From 1920 to 1922, Dr. Blocker was pastor of the Williamsburg, Virginia, Baptist Church, and part time professor at William and Mary College. For two years following these positions he served as President of Shorter College in Rome, Georgia. In 1924 he accepted a professorship at Furman University in Greenville, South Carolina, where he taught until 1930 when he took the chair of sociology at William and Mary College. Dr. Blocker is a member of the Virginia Association of Social Science, the American Sociological Society, Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, Delta Theta Kai, Delta Sigma Phi, a Mason, and an Oddfellow.

Mr. R. J. Longstreet

At present the supervising principal of the Seabreeze High School in Daytona Beach, Florida, Prof. R. J. Longstreet is one of the foremost educational leaders and naturalists in the state. A graduate of Stetson University in 1913, the activities of Prof. Longstreet have been absorbing and of unusual note. During the World War he enlisted in the First Officers' Training Camp at Ft. McPherson, Georgia, and saw fourteen months of service overseas as lieutenant of the field artillery in the 82nd Division. Following the Armistice, Prof. Longstreet attended Cambridge University in England. Since 1920 he has held his present position in the Daytona Beach public schools. He is also a member and past president of the Florida Educational Association, and life member of the National Educational Association. Prof. Longstreet has been editor of the Florida Naturalist since 1927, author of Bird Study in Florida, and co-author of Stories of Florida. He is a fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science, member of the Society of Colonial Wars and the Sons of the American Revolution, a Rotarian, and a member of Phi Alpha Delta, Pi Kappa Phi, and Kappa Delta Pi.

Seniors Most Likely to Succeed

A. Richard Baldwin and Sarah Elizabeth Clark were awarded this honor by a vote of the Senior Class in view of their achievements during the past four years.

SENIORS

The seniors have come to the longed-for climax to it all—baccalaureate, class day, and graduation. Time for them turns the last page of a hectic happy chapter and opens a new one. For us, who remain behind, there is, in the pages of their chapter, the challenge of their constructive years here upon the campus. It is for us to write our pages as nobly as they have written theirs.

SENIOR SCANSION

The present senior class was tender of years and experience when first it embarked upon college life and 'the campus course.' . . . Conrad Hall was still pretty much of a barn, with iron beds that went down like canoes in the middle . . . Maude Emma King was the dean of women, and the Chaudoin parlors had new drapes . . . Hal Dekle was working in the bookstore, and selling the boys on the idea of buying Stetson bracelets to send to the girls back home . . . The Commons building had just opened, and the students marveled at the softness of the furniture in the lounge . . . Billy Wolfe was tooting the sax in the band, and still in a single state . . . Charlie Griffin wore a ten gallon hat, which was the custom back in his hometown of Falmouth . . . Lydia Theurer, Sarah Elizabeth Clark, Dick Baldwin, and Robert Barnett rated the academic honors of Phi Society . . . Dean Robert Cotner taught American history, and co-eds tussled for front seats in his classes . . . The Stetsonian was born, with every suggestion for a title from Chapeau to Nightcap . . . Professors competed with the voice and piano students giving out from the third floor of Elizabeth Hall . . . Mickey Magenheim began his long career of concocting sandwiches in the Grille . . . Frank Knorr was selected by the Mystic Krewe as the most representative freshman boy . . . Lanier Smith dated a different girl every night of the week, and was all adithier by each new one he met. The corridors of the boys' dorms re-echoed with his "I'll String Along With You," a popular tune of the day . . . until . . . timed shagged into their sophomore year when Conrad Hall turned its face around, and even innerspring mattresses were installed . . . Bob Barnett began writing the Christian Campus for the Stetson Reporter . . . Senorita Neblett, the Spanish teacher, showed a fondness for pageants and red evening gowns . . . The Chaudoin parlors echoed with the gentle laughter of guests at the teas given by the new dean of women, Lola B. McCollough, from Alabama . . . Gene Rowland and several other girls converted soap bubble pipes to other uses, and were laid low for a time . . . Hugh Latimer was repairing radios in his spare time . . . Emmaline Handley sat every noon clutching hands with Emmett Clonts on the bench by the Commons door . . . Gordon Kipp was the self-styled heel of the class, and proclaimed himself the poet laureate of Stetson—even then . . . Theda Johnson was delving into the private life of ghosts at Cassadaga as a hobby . . . Girls went riding after seven in the eve, and were being strenuously reprimanded for it . . . Mary Ella Knight and Harry Jerger had a diet of each other for breakfast, dinner, and supper everyday . . . until their Junior year . . . when every Stetsonite, both past and present, was turned on their ear by the Hatter stampede over the Florida Gators to the tune of a 16-14 score. Florida Rats were so drunk with despair that dinks were acquired from their knobs by the score . . . Thelma Preston won an art prize in a Florida exhibit, and put her head in salt water to reduce the swelling . . . James Vance had to live down the rumors of a two-year-old butcherknife episode brought up by a fresbie girl . . . The Big Apple was a major craze, but a sore trial . . . Lois Walker's interest in J. L. Green, and vice versa, began to be more than a chemical friendship . . . Roy Kaye was celebrating 6 or 7 anniversaries as a grocery boy . . . Robert Kicklighter, president of the Ministerial Association, was mistaken as one of the library fixtures one day, and nearly sat on . . . Lydia Theurer added to her acting, playwrighting, scholastic, editing, literary, set designing, debating prestige by putting words to tuneful Hall melodies . . . Various students nursed along the swimming pool scheme with indications that it would be dedicated by the children of the present students . . . One of the numbers presented at the May Day program was entitled "The Dance of the Liver Pills" . . . until finally they came to their . . . Senior year . . . and Russell Darst bought a pair of binoculars that his lady fair might better watch him adorn the Hatter bench . . . One of the wits in Dr. Vance's geography class said, "The Firth of Forth, and a Fifth of Scotch." . . . Merch Smith doodled for the Reporter with all the finesse of a Bud Fisher . . . Professor Hickman won the mud-pie eating contest at the Sadie Hawkins Frolic, tho the Law Clubs bets were placed on Professor Brown who modestly admitted afterwards that he had eaten three pies for supper . . . Gordon Kipp wrote the Open Forum for the college paper . . . Bearden Cunningham and Phyllis Brown were in the dative case all year . . . And although we hate to say good-bye to the Seniors we suppose it's just as well they go by graduation as by less orthodox methods.

REPORT

May 1950

Mr. Toastmaster, dear, dear, friends and the class of 1940. How ten years have flown but I always say, or don't I, that the thing that makes time fly is the spur of the moment. I must say I was surprised to be asked to make this report on the class of 1940 but I always say that the female of the species is more deadly than the male. Now for the report. As far as I have been able to count, these figures are for day before yesterday, the class of 1940 in 10 years has had 153 off-springs, of these 207 are female and the rest evenly divided between male and neuter. Two millionaires, 3 ditch diggers, 12 filling station owners, 4 movie stars, 1 business man, 10 gold diggers and chorus girls, 3 day laborers (work during the day) 1 bachelor (I don't see how he escaped) 2 housewives, 1 lawyer, 1 part time doctor, 40 teachers (this includes jiu jitsu and boxing) 12 clerks, 1 skywriter. I also have, or don't I, some more definite reports of the class of 1940. I should say that I am very sorry that the president of the class of 1940 is not with us, that body over there belongs to his stand in. Mr. A. R. Baldwin could not be with us this evening because he is in Paris giving the French Prime minister of FOREIGN Affairs a demonstration of his now famous hair tonic. "Baldwin will win the Bald". I am sure all of you remember how he discovered it, you know the art studio was just above the lab in those days and one day we smelt this terrible stuff and when we got downstairs we found Dr. Richard, as we used to call him, had made a big mistake and had spilt the mistake on the floor and had grown a bear rug on the floor all except for the head and the tail. Like the good fellow he is he sent a bottle of it to Dr. Allen. Oh, it just seems like yesterday that we went to chapel and found Dr. Allen there with the Allen beam, the Allen salute and an Einstein hair cut. One of the millionaires of the class of 1940 is Mr. Joseph W. Hill who I am sure all of you know made his money in the manufacture of Fuzzy Wuzzy Blankets for Little Wee Tooties Wooties. I had an occasion, the last time I was in New York, to see the Mandeville sisters, Janet and Esther, in their latest production. I understand, and this is just boarding house rumor of course, that Mr. G. E. Kipp wrote the musical comedy for the girls, in case you haven't heard it is called, "Tall, Dark, and Rancid". Which reminds me, have any of you read Gordon's new book? I have and it is perfectly marvelous how a person can put so much of themselves in their work. I oftened wondered when we were in school why they didn't call him "He of the dangling shirt". The book is called "I Object, or Shouldn't I".

Grafton H. Pyne, Jr. is back on the campus again. Well I remember the work Mr. Pyne did for the swimming pool. Have all of you been over to see the pool? It is perfectly marvelous. I went over there to see it, took five years to build it, when I got over there it was full of those young things, I put my toe in—and got it wet, last evening I went over to or in and when I got in the water got out. Speaking of rounds doesn't Stetson look lovely after all these years. Elizabeth is so dignified you just couldn't call her Lizz or Betty any more.

I just love the escalator. But somehow every time I go up in the things somebody puts a nut in the works. I understand Ruth E. Oshurn has given up horses, there are so few left, I remember seeing one last week in a circus, well she has gone in for musical comedy pictures in color. She is a coloratura soprano.

Mr. James Vance has 5 kids, lovely children, but I just don't know what nursery rhymes are coming to. Yesterday one of Mr. Vance's little girls came up to me and said, have you heard this one, and I said no, well she said it goes like this. Mary had a little goat, the goat had halitosis. And every place that Mary went, The people held their noses.

Speaking of children you should see Magenheim's gang, I don't know how many he has. Well, I remember how he used to talk about the second World War, it was on in 1940 you know, I have always said the German's got treated pretty hard, but you can't blame any of the nations, all that is left of Germany is a place 7 by 3 where they buried Hitler. Nobody wants that land.

Billy Wolfe has a lovely church, 33 people. But I have a friend, who has a friend who was told by that friend's friend that Billy is about to have his fifth wife.

A. E. Mathis, Jr. is the only prof. of the class of 1940. He is doing very nicely. I met his wife the other day. She said she is having a terrible time with him. Why she said just the other day he came home without the car, oh yes, they have a car, of course most everybody uses an aeroplane these days, well she said, where is the car dear, and he said I don't know, she said well you took it, he said oh, I wondered where the man had gone to who gave me the lift this morning.

Helen Hooks is a hat designer and doing very well. As you can see by this new creation, she makes hats for children and other people. Esther Hlick has become a very famous gardner. I asked her the other day what was the new garden plot and she said it was a plan of bugs & worms to eat up everything. Edward Hluic is famous, I don't know what for? I saw him in Chicago last year, you should see his bald head, but I always say, or don't I, that successful men are generally bald, because they come out on top.

Frances Hammond is selling toothless tooth brushes all over the country. I met her a few weeks ago in a hotel in Fort Christmas. They gave me room 13 and when I went up there I found Frances Hammond there. For three days she had been sitting on her suitcases, I asked her why, and she pointed to a sign. THINK, have you left anything?

Frank L. Knorr has a star. She is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. V. A. Schaefer. A lovely child only 8 years old. Little Marjorie looks just like her mother. Her new picture is "Mother told me not to but I think I will".

Sarah Elizabeth Clark has a perfectly lovely bootblack co. This is a paid ad.

Robert Barnett is doing wonderful as a cook in the N. Y. Hotel. Which reminds me you should try Elizabeth Jameson's dutch cook, you know wouldn't you?

The former Relda Ann Wehb couldn't come this year she just had triplets two weeks ago.

Mildred Brown had a perfectly lovely dry cleaning establishment, she says it is only hard work in spots.

Hugh Latimer is doing fine at what ever he is doing. Yesterday I saw him in the commons building. He had a banana in front of him and was making the most awful faces at it; I asked him what he was doing, he said he was just crying to get the banana so he could eat it, I said why the face? Well he said you scare the banana, and grab it as it jumps out of its skin. I said I have a better one. You just call a banana yellow and it will want to fight so it will take off its jacket.

Well I have more to report but I must stop but I always say, or don't I, that the way to break the ice is to make a few cracks. I hope we get together for another 10 years as easily as this. So I end but I always say, or don't I, that my face is my fortune—it runs into a nice round figure.

Mr. Arthur P. Moor

An educator versed in the fields of music, literature, and mathematics, a traveler, a lecturer, and a writer, are the diverse achievements of Arthur P. Moor. Receiving his B.S. degree from Stetson University in 1919, Mr. Moor was honored with a Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford University in England. After taking honors in theology at Oxford, he traveled much in Europe and the Far East, followed by four years of executive work for the YMCA, arranging faculty and student conferences, and speaking and conducting forums. After this Mr. Moor taught at various universities and delivered summer courses in music and Oriental literature. He has done research and writing on special projects for the National Recreation Association, the Brooklyn Museum, New York Public Library, and the Metropolitan Museum. Some of his publications include The Library-Museum of Music and Dance, a section on music in A. D. Danzig's Music in American Life and the International Encyclopedia of Music and Musicians, and articles on American libraries in Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians, and Musical America.

Dere Diary----

I am now established in collich to get edjucated and as Roosow or Kathalene Norris or one of the immortal bards sed, to be or not to bee is the queschun. Since I'm having to pay for this I gess I'll benifite by it all. I herd of a campis coarse today and I guess I'll investegat that and see if I'll take that for my mager which is the topic you take the most off. This is whot they call orientashun weak around here and it sure is—it leaves me so weak anyhow and I can hardly wait until chrismus vacashun to see wat my new boy friend will give me. Dere Diary. I'll just have to let you in on a secrete. I mad a blunder today Someone asked me what kind of skool this was and I said it was a parokial skool and they looked funny and walked away and I found out that I had sed this was a religious skool. How terrible.

Dere Diary ---

This is called rash weak. All the weaks around here have specel names and that is one of them. Anyhow, the for sorrorities on campus must all be wanteng me to pay them ten dollars becaus they all bring little cards around for me to sign so that I can go out with one of the girls and be taken places. I gess I'll get inishiated any day now. Last weak I got registered in the libery and there I met a hole bunch of kinds and stood in line for for hours waiting to have the dean's rubber stamp stamped on my card. I found out I had to take a coarse in theem righting and dere diary I don't want to becaus its such a waist of time becaus I already have such a freedom of riting vocaluarry. Even mother says she cant tell what I'll say next. Anyhow I couldn't get out of tacking the coarse.

Dere Diary ---

I don't hafe to go but to hafe my classes becaus of the new cut sistem. oh glory unto the most high. I saw my english teecher todoy about my theems and I told her what I thot of her way of gradding my papers and she got made and called me an illiterate and I told her I was not ether that she culd look on the New York birth files and see for herself and that shut her up. I went out ridding las night and when I got out of the care the dean rod by and saw me get out and she talked to me this mourning. about it and I told her if she didn't stop piking on me I'd tell her what all we did wich was going to the show and getting a cheex sandwich and chokolat soda. She looked kina shocking and she didn't say anything. I guess I like her alright except that she isn't my type. She tolde me I had potentialities and now I'm worried becaus the doctor told me I was alright.

Derest darling Diary ---

Today was Homecoming and I met a boy from off somewhere and now I'm in luv. He sed that if I'd rite him that he would send me a pin. Homecoming was grate and I liked it except that it was to hote to ware my fur coat and I wore it anyway and my dress ran. Sara Elizabeth Clark and Ed Mason were the hostesses and look so nice. We lost the footbald game but thats all right becaus Fred is going to send me a pin. I saw the play what Every Woman Noes but Sir James Berry and I found out that every woman noes that her husband is really dumb and is always fikle. And the play was so good and my heart just terned over when I saw Steve Reed and fell in love with him. Also I saw Lydia Thorough and thought she looked awful but someone sed she was supposed to but I can't see why.

Dere Diary

Ward Hunter had a baby! Gee, I'll bet its cute. Fred sent me my pin and it cam today but I guess I took him too literal. I, not in love anymore becaus the pin was silver fasted to a pease of paper wich said button up your lip on it. Their all doges and I'm heartbroken. I'm reformed. I'm going to study becaus the D-list cam out and I got on it six times and I may get cent home. I bought me some new cles and now I'm happy becaus new cles always make me. Also I bought some new bookes today but all the words are speled bad and I can't read them very well, its a pity becaus they are so pretty.

Dr. Leland F. Carlton

A prominent surgeon recognized among medical leaders in his field of activity, Dr. Leland F. Carlton has advanced much in humanitarian work. After graduating from Stetson University, he continued his work at Rush Medical College in Chicago, Illinois. Since 1915 he has been practicing in Tampa, Florida. Dere Diary.

There was a debat here which was between Oxford, a collich in England which I would like to go to becaus the people speak so beantiful and are always having tea and cake, and Stetson. Vance Graham was on the team and so was Lydia Thorough. I'm getting ejuicated more every day and I'm lerning losts now. I learned a lot how to right a tempaper today—oh boy. My english teecher asked me today a dumb question. She asked me what a preposition was and she shoudl know any modern girl knows that. I thought she shouldn't ask such questions in class but far be it from me to let her think I didn't know so I told her it was when a man who didn't have any asked you up to see his etchings and she sputtered and realized what she had asked and backed right out of it and gave me all the blame.

Dere Diary.

There was an Innerfraternity dance today but I didn't go because I didn't have a new dress or a date. I am crushed.

Today is Sadie Hawkins Day, dear diary, and we are going to chase after our men and I'm going to chase after Emit Peter becaus he can't run any faster than I can and becaus he is intellectule. We are going to the dance on me and I'm going to ware a yellow bow in the bake and a purpul hate and a corn cob pipe like the hies. I'll bet everybody will look at me then. No budy could resist my personality then.

Der Diary:

The Glee Club sang the Messiah and My English teacher said I was improving in my gramaticle corectness which makes me trill. The Messiah was lovely and I fell asleep to the tune of the Anvil Corus. I'm working hard on my biology. I cut up my frog today but I threw it out because it had a lot of dirt in it and then Dr. Smith got made and told me that wasn't dirt, it was supposed to be there just as if I didn't know dirt when I saw it.

Dear Diary:

Tonight I feel holy because I just came home from the Christmas play called "Family Portrait" and the family was the family of Jesus. It was wonderfull and I just loved it so much and then after the play all the lights were out of Chaudion and the candles were burning in all the windows.

And then the chimes played all kinds of Christmas songs and I felt so beautiful. Golly, I love Stetson.

Dear Diary:

Peace on earth is gone for me. Exams have started. I herd some of the girls talking about riting notes on their fingerals but I have not any so I guess I just won't do that. I took one of those staying awake pills last night and now I can't even hold up my head. I took another pills and it only made me worse. Miss Henry says its because I really didn't out to have taken them because they are a dope. I know what happens to dope fiends and I'm scared now.

Dear Diary:

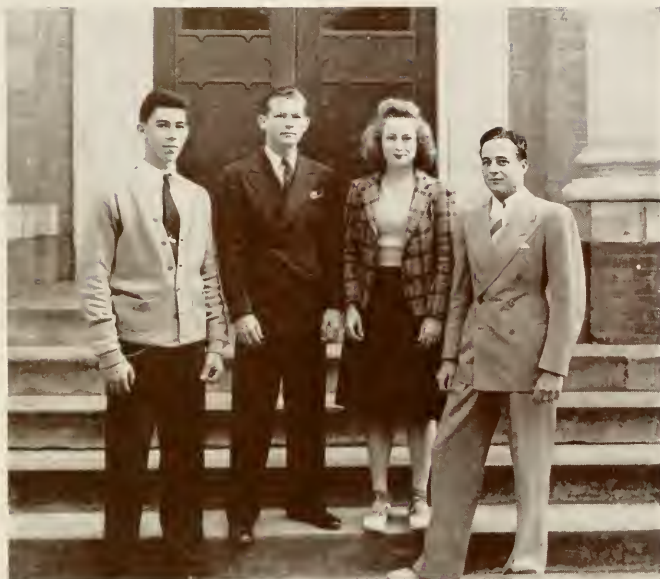

I'm furious. I just tore a brand new pair of stockings on Billy's frat pin! He was helping me down from off the top of the car at the air port and I raked his pin—but not sufficiently to rake it off of him. Now, no one but you, dear diary, believed my explanation. I like you, dear diary, because you believe anything I tell you, which is more than I can say for the rest of the people,

Mr. Harry S. Winters

One of the best known educators and historians in Florida, Professor Harry S. Winters has amply justified his mission in life by winning the admiration of all students who have come under his influence. A graduate of the Stetson Academy in 1890 and the College in 1896, Professor Winters began his teaching career in high school. From 1900 to 1920 he was a partner in a prosperous wholesale paper business in Jacksonville, Florida, but he eventually returned to DeLand, where in 1927 he started teaching at his Alma Mater. Instructing such varied subjects as English, geometry, and astronomy, Professor Winters finally limited his field to American History, in which he is a recognized authority in the state. In 1901 Professor Winters married Mabel W. Allen of DeLand, and they have one son, Allen. Professor Winters was director of the Florida Historical Society in 1938-39, and vice president of the Florida Library Association in 1939. He has been active in church work all his life. He is a member of the Florida Historical Society and the Southern Historical Society. At Stetson he belonged to Pi Gamma Mu, Mu Omega Xi, and Delta Sigma Pi. Professor Winters is the oldest living graduate of the university.

I, The Freshman

"Gosh, I'm excited. I've just met my roommate, and is she cute! And now I'm going to Freshman Talent Night. I hope that boy I heard practising, sings. Chris somebody—Chris Napoli . . . Why doesn't Bill (I think I'll like him) come?"

"Oh, I'm all hot and bothered. There were seven lines at registration today and I didn't know what to do or anything. I didn't know getting an education was so hard.

"There goes Barb White. Where have I seen her before? 'Freshman girls' meeting, and she was elected president. Guess I'll congratulate her—Oh, Bar-rb.

"The freshman float is coming around the corner—isn't Homecoming great? (especially with Billy). And Liberty Jennings herself—arm tired, Dot?"

"What's this—four exams in two days? It's impossible! I won't live, I'll never be the same again. Why didn't I study my lessons?"

"It's Wednesday, and here's my Reporter, courtesy of Emmett Peter. Lemme see—Fresh Basketball Team Champs. And George Slaton won his tennis match 6-3, 6-1, 6-4.

"People and what they remind you of; Jeanne Vance and everything pretty and smart; Edith Bass and everything athletic and capable; Stetson student and everything friendly and fun.

"It's almost time to start packing to go home (how can I tell Billy good-bye?) Now I'm getting sentimental, but it's been a great life being a freshman!"

"Hello, Marie, Sally, Diana. Am I late? You should've gone on and eaten anyway. Gosh! Have I been in a rush! I just got out of the beauty parlor. Say, they have the most wonderful new hairdresser there. Henri his name is, and he's cute! He did my hair—personally—isn't it grand!"

"Yes, its lovely. Toinette" . . . "Very nice" . . . "I like it very much. Toinette".

"How's Bob? And what happened to that air castle you and he were building?"

"But of course You would be interested, Diane".

"He's just fine, I guess. I really haven't seen him much lately. The air castle? Ohhh—I found out his mother expected to move in, too. You should see her! Seventy, silver-haired, doesn't smoke, doesn't play bridge, doesn't drive a car, and never says a word! A regular "Whistler". Lord, she'd bore me to death! And what would my friends think? It just isn't being done, my dear! . . . I really don't believe I'll order . . . I'm going to skip lunch—it took me half an hour to get this veil on right".

"New, isn't it, Toinette?"

"But of course, Marie. From Sally Victor's. I simply adore her creations, don't you?"

"Well, if you must know, she's a little too expensive for me, Toinette. But Bloomingdale's are having a sale . . . and such bargains! You'll simply swoon when you see the dress I got for practically nothing."

"I imagine it would have to be, Sally. I must say you look like it. Your hair really looks terrible and your shoes are simply filthy. And one button's off your dress, too, dear."

"How's Bob's art work coming, Toinette?"

"Oh, he's still painting a rosy future, Marie—but try and sell that! Really, and then he gets angry because I run bills! Well, however does he expect me to dress? Like a ten-cent-store clerk? I just can't see why he must be so unreasonable. He even resents Dad's giving me an allowance! Dad offered him one, too, but he got peeved and turned him down flat! Silly boy! Why should he work when Dad has enough for all of us? Well, he'll get over it."

"Jane finally married Steve Moss, Toinette. Aren't you glad?"

"Did she, Marie? I guess she was getting rather panicky. She's pretty old, you know. She says she's only twenty-seven, but she looks at least thirty-two! Naturally she married him for his money—he's forty if he's a day and has no "oomph" at all. When he puts his hand on his hip, it looks like he's leaning on a shelf. You know, when they were engaged, he gave her the loveliest old ring—a perfectly huge diamond with a curse on it. Seems a shame to waste it on Jane; she's so plain!"

"How did your housekeeping venture turn out, Toinette? Still keeping it up?"

"Heavens no, Diana! Really I don't know how to live without at least three servants! You know I told you I was going to make a pound cake? I did, and Bob said it gave him indigestion! That's gratitude for you. I pounded it for hours! Oh guess what! There was another one of those crank letters in the mail today. The Vanity Shoppe wants to know when I'm going to pay my bill! Isn't that funny? I just never can remember unimportant little things like that! Besides, I don't like Pierre any more. Don't you think he's tiresome, always agreeing with everything?"

"Well, Toinette, a yes-man always has a negative personality."

"Well, Sally! How cute! Where did you read that? I never can remember the cute things I read. Say hasn't Rodney Claire been hanging around you lately? I hear he asked you for a late date at the Stork Club the other night and you refused. Why, for heaven's sakes? He's got loads of filthy lucre and dances divinely!"

"Oh—he's slimy—in his mind, I mean—I don't like him, and told him I never went out when I should be coming in. He had the nerve to suggest that he'd buy me a diamond if I'd be nice to him!"

"Oh, don't be old-fashioned, Sally! You can always borrow money on a good diamond."

"Yes, Toinette, but a wedding ring's the best security. By the way, how'd you like the Townes party last night?"

"Oh, terribly rush! I feel marvelous this morning. Notice my new dress? Oh, I must rush! I promised Elaine to meet her for bridge and then on to Joe's for cocktails. Really, you girls are getting dull. You haven't told me a thing! I guess you don't get around as much after you're older, though. Bye, dears. See you tomorrow for lunch. Ritz Tower? Boring, but I'll be there."

Dere Diary = = con't.

Dear Diary:

The Stetson Players presented, "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder and he was wilder than ever. Why he made those poor people do everything without eve a spoon to eat with. Anyhow, it was a good play and the dead graveyard scene was the best of all. Dr. Stover was in it and he was good. He is one of those teachers that don't agree with whoever it was that said that those that could do and those that can't teach. One of these days Dr. Allen is going to forget to come to chapel and then he'll get his last cut. One more and he is automatically suspended from his duties at school. You, dear diary, can't know how much we like to sing the doxology but even better is when we "send the light" with the bass, a bit off but still all right. It's a two to three hit.

Dear Diary:

The Pi Kappes gave a dance tonight which they consider the best dance given on the campus this year. Of course I wouldn't dispute their word but I liked Sadie Hawkins Day best because I could dance all the time then and at the Pi Kap dance I only danced with three boys, but that's better than usual because I usually don't go at all. However I am getting a liberal education because tonight I learned how to use the boxers upper-cut. I tried it on Jimmy and boy, did it work. I drove him home,---- straight home. Now if only it had been ---

Dear Diary:

Jerry doesn't know it but I heard him say that he thought Barbara Rowe was the cutest femme on this campus. I'll bet I get a box of candy out of that.

Dear Diary:

Tonight I saw you cant take it with you and believe me I'm glad. That family nearly drove me crazy. Imagine letting a nigger be so familiar with you. But gee, the girl got a swell man. Maybe this democracy isn't such a bad idea after all but I'm not going to be the one to start it.

Dear Diary:

Here we are into March and I'm not out of my Febuuary slump yet. Prof. Griffin gave a recital and those songs of his just melted me. He is so cute that if he didn't have that wife and the baby and if he had a little more money and a Cadalac instead of a Plymouth and if had been a Sigma Nu I would have fallen for him and asked him to come up and see me some time soon because I wouldn't let any grass grow under my feet because he would be the catch of the year.

Dear Diary:

Today while I was in the hash house something so funny happened. One of the boys came whizzing down the isle between the tables and crashed into a table with his cartload of dishes and turned them over. It made such a noise that the glass of water I was holding got so jarred by the disturbance of the air waves (physics 203) that it spiled all over me. And then of course I was imbarassed at all the dampness on my dress and all over the floor but not nearly so imbarassed as the poor boy.

Dear Diary:

Skid Weimert gave a recital tonight and she wore a bluish taffetta dress and an orchid. I think but never having been very close to an orchid I really wouldn't be sure. Anyhow, the way she sang Danny Boy was enough to nearly finish me. It reminds me so much of Dan that I used to know until last year when he told me I was a trump and I wasn't going to stand to be called names and so I told him so and he got mad. Anyhow, Skid was simply devine and the audience sat so still that it was quite a contract to most of the audiences at Stetson.

Hon. Bert Fish

A diplomat and a public spirited citizen is the position the Honorable Bert Fish holds today. The present American minister to Egypt and Saudi Arabia, Judge Fish has capably handled public offices for over thirty years. A graduate from Stetson University in 1902, Bert Fish was president of his law class. While practising the law profession, Mr. Fish was elected Reading Secretary of the State Senate. Thereafter he became Superintendent of the Public Schools in Volusia County, and later the Solicitor for the Volusia County Criminal Court. Following these positions Bert Fish was the Volusia County Criminal Judge for eight years. In 1933 Judge Fish was appointed to his present position, and in 1935 the honorary degree of Doctor of Law was conferred upon him by Stetson University. In 1937 Hon. Fish was appointed by President Roosevelt as the delegate from the United States to the conference in Montreux, Switzerland, for Revision of the Capitulatory Regime in Egypt. Bert Fish is Honorary Life Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce, a Kiwanis, Odd Fellow, Elk, Mason, Shriner, and alumnus of the Sigma Nu and Phi Alpha Delta fraternities.

Professor of Law.

The Stetson College of Law

The College of Law of John B. Stetson University is the oldest law school in Florida. The first catalog of the College of Law, published in 1900, carries this statement:

"By reason of repeated requests from prominent members of the bar and from many others, the College of Law of the John B. Stetson University will be opened October 2nd, 1900. With no law school in the State of Florida, with the number of young men in the State who desire to study law and the number who, on account of their own health or that of their friends, are attracted southward by our genial winter climate, it is believed there is room here to build up a prosperous school. In this attempt, we most earnestly ask for the hearty co-operation of every member of the bar in the State."

The expectations of those who founded the College of Law have been realized. The College of Law is fully accredited, and through high admission requirements, rigorous scholarship standards, and carefully planned courses, together with a legal aid clinic and law club competitions, every effort is made to develop lawyers who will recognize and fulfill their professional and citizenship responsibilities.

Mr. John J. Heney

Recognized as a leading American bandmaster, John J. Heney's record as a musician is notable. A graduate of Stetson University in 1939, Mr. Heney at the present time directs the university band as well as the DeLand High School Senior Band and Junior Band. He has had ten compositions published by the Fillmore Music House, Cincinnati, Ohio; the W.F.L. Drum Company, Chicago, Illinois; and the Barnhouse Publishing Company, Oskaloosa, Iowa. Mr. Heney has been elected as president of the Florida Bandmasters Association for the third consecutive year. He is chairman of the National Percussion Committee, and a member of the American Bandmasters Association and the Board of Control of the National School Band Association. This year he has been a judge at the state high-school band contest of Georgia in Milledgeville, and the Mississippi state contest in Jackson. He successfully conducted the Florida state contest in Miami, and the Eighth Regional contest of the national high-school band associations at West Palm Beach.

The Stetson School of Music

The Stetson, each year for the past five or six years, has made the statement, and truthfully, that "Stetson is going forward"; and that the School of Music is keeping step with the other schools and colleges of the University. In fact, we sometimes think that we get a skip or so ahead of the others. Perhaps we are wrong, but it is true that this year our graduates are a fine group of well-trained musicians. Our orchestras, Glee Clubs, and Bands are larger and well trained. We have added three excellent musicians to our faculty and have increased our activities in every way. We have given more recitals, concerts, one more Oratorio, and a more difficult opera than in the past. Our Concert Course included more fine artists, and our students and faculty appeared in recital before more clubs throughout the state. Members of the faculty have been elected to fill prominent offices in state and national music organizations, and we have had nationally known musicians visit our campus, conduct our music organizations, lecture to the classes, conduct conferences with the faculty.

Yes, sir—"The School of Music is going forward."

Mr. Frank J. Wideman

An eminent Florida attorney, Frank J. Wideman has had an eventful career both in the army, and in politics. After graduating from Stetson University Mr. Wideman attended the First Officers' Training Camp at Ft. McPherson, Georgia, and served as First Lieutenant in the United States Army throughout the World War. In consequent years he has held the commission of Major in the Officers' Reserve Corps, and has been a former Vice-Commander of the Jacksonville Post of the American Legion. While a practising barrister, Mr. Wideman was appointed State Attorney from 1920 to 1924, and named by President Roosevelt as Assistant United States Attorney General in 1933. He was also a member of the Florida State Board of Control from 1929 to 1933. In 1920 Mr. Wideman married Miss Pattie Holmes of Jacksonville, Florida. They have three children. Mr. Wideman has been a member of the City Council of Jacksonville, Florida, and associated with various Masonic bodies and the Shrine. At Stetson University he was a member of the Sigma Nu, first Commander of the Delta Mu Chapter, and a member of Pi Alpha Delta, the national law fraternity.

Lydia A. Theurer — Hers is a world of glamorized work. Indomitable, Lydia carries through her plans in spite of frequent opposition. Strong willed, a perfectionist, she is expected to accomplish great things by all who know her. Her dreams carry her far as one by one she puts them into practice and makes of them tangible parts of her personality and achievements. In describing Lydia it is especially appropriate that one should quote a master playwright, Sir James Barrie, in his statement "Charm is a sort of bloom on a woman" for Lydia fairly blossoms forth with charm. But it is the voice that carries the personality home. The deep, rich huskiness, the warmth and glow of Lydia's voice has been the major cause—that coupled with her astonishingly quick and clear perception—for her success in debate, and in the Little Theatre.

Dick Baldwin — Business-like to say the least Dick has been business manager of the HATTER for two years and has made a great success of it, too. In fact, Dick has convinced Stetson that he can manage anything, even the Delta Sigs. Majoring in chemistry, Dick turns student now and then to visit the lab and to spend long hours watching things boil. Friendly in a quiet unassuming manner, Dick has become one of the best known campus figures. A student of applied psychology with neither teacher nor text book, he will always have his way whenever he wants it.

Sarah Elizabeth Clark — "Sweet, simple, demure, and altogether lovely," could be said of Sarah Lib for her world is one of love and kindness for fellow sufferers. Her effervescence, her fun and laughter can only be equaled by her ability to be in the midst of complex and amusing situations. Life buzzes around her and under her capable if small hand, confusion melts into a rather unsettled peace. For four years Sarah Lib has struggled to bring to this campus a love for something higher, something she herself is continually striving for. It seems to be Sarah Lib's determination to continue this religious training.

Helen Hooks — She knows all the campus personages just a little better than anyone else for she is Dr. Allen's secretary, next to Miss Horn, and what he doesn't know, she can tell him. Known as the "walking chamber of commerce", Helen takes every opportunity to expound on the beauties of Lakeland. Fun-loving, sincere, generous, and definitely likeable, she laughingly declares herself to be cut out to be a secretary but we know better; she'll be a debater yet. She practices continually just to hear herself talk, and on she goes for hours on hours of amusing, rollicking nonsensical informal debate with anyone who is talkative enough to encourage her. Which can ride best, Helen, a knock-kneed or a bowlegged cowboy?

Ward Hunter — Valiant is the word for Ward. He walked weakly up the steps of Elizabeth Hall one day after Ward Jr. arrived in October. It seems hardly possible or fair that the most handsome man on the entire campus is so definitely indigible. Ward belongs to Phyllis and to politics, and speaking of politics just naturally brings to mind Ward's campaigning ability in school elections. All he lacks is the traditional cigar. So serious, so thoughtful, yet ready to laugh and joke, Ward is one of the most outstanding seniors of the year.

Marjorie McClure — Wearing the peculiar air of a pixie, the diminutive Marjorie in her strangely wise way for her few years, pulls the heart-strings of all who truly know her. Although at times a trifle, shall we say "sharply familiar", Marjorie is a favorite on campus. With a toss of her little head, a shake of her shoulders she trips ahead, her eye set on the goal to which she is striving. Life has been kind to Marjorie, yet she is not a "spoiled brat", but a worker, a helper, and a friend. More need not be said; her popularity speaks for itself.

Robert Barnett — The esteemed and august editor of the REPORTER, along with his seeing-eye dog, Katje, takes in all the sights. The news office will forever remember him as he has left an indelible scar on the desk, he sat on it so much. Confident, meditative, resourceful, the world revolving about him is a serious, contemplative one. And yet, laughter rings through the high, thick walls of solemnity. Work is the penalty of staying awake and Bob seldom sleeps.

Mildred Brown — Vivacious, carefree, full of fun, "her actions speak as loud as her words". With gaiety and yet solemn purpose, she has for the last four years lent herself to the campus atmosphere. At times, however, she is silent, meditative, and strangely gentle. But not for long; her physical energy is gathering and gathering like great tempestuous clouds and suddenly away she runs, a laughing, joking, merry, happy little imp who is known to all as "Brownie".

Hugh Latimer — Serious, quiet unsuspecting Hugh is always into something. Yet, somehow he always crawls out unharmed. A determined man to say the most, a decided man to say the least, Hugh possesses a rather dry sense of humor; so dry that it is hard to decipher as anything but sarcasm. If Hugh could be called aloof, he could also be described as a true friend to those who hold that honor of friendship which he bestows upon a very few of his hundreds of acquaintances. Hugh is one of the few who can pick and choose.

Hal Dekle — Honorable president of the student body, is "Devoted to law but not to order", to quote Hal himself. A perfect Supreme Court judge could not tell a poorer joke and still get a laugh. Hal declares himself to be practical, to be living in a world of sensibility. Perhaps he is; maybe that's why he's so refreshingly different. Fun-loving Hal is practical, however, for he is a practical joker. Don't hold it against him; he is also a serious, deep thinker when he has to be. As Mayor of Dogpatch, Hal created a lasting niche for himself in "them howls of memorie". Even to the squeaky falsetto which he was a week in gaining and a week in losing, could not do away with the pompousness of the mayor presiding over the annual "Saddie Hawkins Day".

Horace Bills — One "preacher boy" who doesn't look down his nose at anyone not even Horsey! Being kind and sympathetic in a strangely dependable manner, he is friend of every person on the campus. He is often, however, too outspoken for his own good, but his smile smooths over his mistaken glibness and peace reigns supreme. He is generally known to the girls, freshmen and seniors alike, as "big Brother" and is proud of the honor.

Emmaline Handley — Proud, aristocratic Emmaline is known to all on campus as "the pretty brunette who won the beauty contest". A good person to have around, a casual observer of all campus doings, and an active member of many, Emmy has held a place which cannot be quickly filled. Around her gather a few close friends, yet her circle of intimates is even smaller, for Emmaline does not welcome intimacy but is rather distant, cool, and impersonal. On the surface gay and cheerful, underneath she seems to be calm, still, and shadowed.

Mr. Chik Wai Leugn

Now a colonel in the Chinese army, Chik Wai Leugn is one of the most interesting graduates of Stetson University. Chik Wai Leugn came from China to the United States at the age of twelve. When he landed at the port of Seattle, Washington, he knew no word of the English language. Not a half dozen years later his college essays were selected as the best specimens of English in the freshman class. After receiving his A.B. degree from Stetson University in 1923, Chik Wai Leugn worked and obtained his master's degree from Columbia University. The day after his graduation he married a young Chinese woman who had also received her master's degree the following day. They have four children. Since returning to China, Chik Wai Leugn has been foreign minister to the governor of Canton, China, and a liason officer between English speaking and Chinese speaking people in his division of the army. This well-known Chinese officer was recognized as a fine historian at Stetson University. He was born of Christian parents, and spoke at churches about Deland. In the years since his graduation, Chik Wai Leugn has often sent his best wishes to Stetson University for its advancement.

Dear Diary:

Just because the Music School is called the best in the south we have to have a lot of music programs and this one was given by Evelyn Swarthout, a cousin to her cousin the singer, Gladys Swarthout. She was so good that I listened for a while but then I got up and left but as I was going by the window I heard her playing and so I stood outside and listened to her until she was finished. It would have been more comfortable inside but the night was so lovely that I had a good time with Harris too.

Dear Diary: I hear that the Stetsonian is not a literary triumph but at last it has been published by the kids on the board they call the dictatorial board. Now I know what happened to my diary which I thought I had lost. It had been stolen, that's what.

Dear Diary:

The "Bohemian Girl" was given by the Glee Club and it was so funny when the gun didn't go off in time to kill the man before he died, and when the pistol was thrown down it bounced back again. Gee, it was a swell evening. We had fun watching the opera and trying to guess why and what it was all about.

Dear Diary:

I'm going to have to move back out in town. Crawling in dormitory windows is so hard on the stockings and when they lock the doors at eleven how can they expect you to get in unless you come in through the windows. Last night I came home about one and the window was locked and I had to wake up the girl in the next room and when she let me in I found out that I had gotten the president of the woman's council out of her bed instead of the girl that rooms with her. She was mad too and I'll bet she gets me campused for this Friday night for it too.

Dear Diary:

Today we had a battle in a student meeting and we threw out the honor system. That's okay by me because I don't like the idea of having it so you have to write your own termpapers. Also, I have a date to the Law School Day through no fault of the boy's. I just wanted to be seen at a place where there would be so many eligible men and see if I could take my pick.

Dear Diary:

My roommate went to the Junior-senior banquet and she looked beautiful. Some day I'm going to be a Junior and then I can go too and then I can wear my new dress. I can hardly wait. I guess I'll go to summer school and try to get to be a junior faster.

Dearest, dearest Diary:

Oh I had fun tonight. I went to the one act plays put on by the playwriting class and it was really funny. Lillian Preston put on one play that was so cute but the audience couldn't get all the lines trying to make them out above the laughing. It went over so big. But even better than that was the impromptu dramas given by the class. They all looked so dumb and so scared and like they didn't know what to do next which they didn't but it went off all right and was so cute. It just thought it was adorable.

Dear Diary:

The May Fete has been given and I am crushed. I was not chosen to be a freshman adviser for next year and why I don't see, I don't drink or chew gum and I am always being talked to by the dean which means that she likes me lots or else she wouldn't want me to come in and talk to her. I guess it is because of the four d's I got and the one C. Miss Bowen said that I couldn't come back next year, may be that's it.

Dear Diary:

The year is over and I have to go home and get some education over the summer because I didn't get any here except to learn to spel.

The Coaches

WARREN CASSIUS COWELL, Athletic Director and Head Football Coach

Few universities can boast an athletic director of Brady Cowell's caliber. With the rare ability always to put on the field a colorful football team and with his never-ending attempt to build character as well as bodies, Coach Cowell has won a place in the heart of every Stetsonite.

WALTER NICHOLSON CLEMONS, Basketball Coach and Assistant Football Coach

A newcomer to Stetson this year, Ben Clemons has demonstrated his basketball magic by winning the Little Four championship. His squad, a thorough workmanlike product, lost only one game to a Florida S. I. A. A. rival.

FOOTBALL

The season's record:

Stetson 0—Florida 21, at Gainesville
Stetson 19—South Georgia 0, at home
Stetson 7—Rollins 27, at home
Stetson 12—Presbyterian 12, at Clinton, S. C.
Stetson 14—Erskine 7, at home
Stetson 0—Tampa 0, at Tampa
Stetson 0—Newberry 20, at home
Stetson 13—Oglethorpe 20, at Atlanta, Ga.
Stetson 14—Wofford 7, at Daytona Beach
Stetson 7—Rollins 27, at Orlando

Coach Brady Cowell began the football season with a small squad with little reserve strength. The squad surprised football followers with sparkling victories over South Georgia State Teachers College, Erskine and Wofford, and well earned ties with a strong Presbyterian squad and the University of Tampa.

STETSON 0—FLORIDA 21, at Gainesville

Recognizing that the odds were decidedly against them, a small squad of Hatters travelled to Gainesville and bravely attempted to repeat last year's great victory over the Gators. Fighting spirit did not overbalance their lack of offensive power, and the Hatters went down 21-0.

STETSON 19—SOUTH GEORGIA 0, at home

A radical shift in the lineup gave Stetson a scoring punch in the season's second game, enabling the Hatters to down South Georgia Teachers' College 19-0. The hard-charging Stetson linemen, who held the heavy Teachers at bay, were praised for playing a great part in the Stetson victory.

STETSON 7—ROLLINS 27, at home

Revived somewhat by their show of offensive strength against South Georgia State, the Hatters were nevertheless dazzled by the rollicking Tars, with their tricky reverses and spinner plays. Coach Cowell attempted to match speed for speed, but the final verdict was: Stetson 7, Rollins 27.

STETSON 12—PRESBYTERIAN 12, at Clinton, S. C.

The Hatters showed a decided improvement in offensive spirit and ground gaining technique when they battled a favored Presbyterian squad to a 12-12 tie on the Blue Stockings' home field. The full squad of 24 players traveled to South Carolina by bus, accompanied by the coaches and Manager Robert Crowell.

STETSON 14—ERSKINE 7, at home

Led by Tailback Ed May and Wingback Troy Hall, the Hatters produced a strong running attack to defeat the Erskine Seceders. The Hatter line, responding to Coach Ben Clemons' instructions, opened up gaps in the enemy forward wall.

STETSON 0—TAMPA 0, at Tampa

A goodly contingent of Stetson students were in Tampa to lend moral support to the Hatter gridmen in their 0-0 tie with the Spartans of Tampa University. Victory was in striking distance several times, but fumbles and lack of offensive strength kept the team from crossing the double line.

STETSON 0—NEWBERRY 20, at home

The Stetson squad, crippled by the 0-0 tie with Tampa, were no match for a heavy and smartly-coached Newberry eleven. The 20-0 defeat was before a capacity Homecoming throng. The defeat failed, however, to mar a successful Homecoming celebration in which the entire campus took part.

STETSON 13—OGLETHORPE 20, at Atlanta

Playing beneath overcast skies in Atlanta, the Hatters were edged by a fast Oglethorpe eleven which swept the Stetsonites off their feet during the early minutes of the game. Although they settled down in the second half, the Stetson team was never able to match the Petrels' score.

STETSON 14—WOFFORD 7, at Daytona Beach

Before a large group of loyal Volusians, The Hatters turned on the power in the first and third periods to down Wofford 14-7. Again the Hatters showed spurts of brilliant backfield power, with Ed May and "Sputter" Smith leading the attack.

STETSON 7—ROLLINS 27, at Orlando

This picturesque and dramatic struggle between two collegiate rivals was brilliantly fought from start to finish. A huge Stetson contingent went wild when the Hatters scored in the second period to lead 7-6 at halftime. The tricky Tars came back strong in the second half, however, and scored three touchdowns for a 27-7 victory.

BASKETBALL

Boasting a smooth-playing team but failing to reach top form until late in the season, Coach Ben Clemons' Green and White basketball squad enjoyed a brilliant season against inter-state rivals. They won the Little Four S. I. A. A. Championship, losing only one game to a Little Four rival.

The squad's record shows four consecutive wins over Miami, two over Tampa and Southern, and one over Rollins. A single loss to the Tars marred their perfect record.

A road trip through the Carolinas in which the team lost three games out of four by a one-point margin, marred the team's out-of-state record, but they bounced right back to win five out of their next six state contests.

Green and White sweaters bearing the coveted "S" were awarded the following eight members of the Hatter squad: Vincent Schaefer, captain and high point man in all but two games; Harold Vann, center; Alex Mathis, guard; Jimmy Golden, forward; Lanier Smith, forward; Gene Lamb, guard; Cliff Parmley, guard; and Bob Sample, alternate center.

Schaefer, hailed by coaches and players as the best basketball player in the state, was elected captain of the 1940 Hatters after they had won their final game of the season with Rollins.

Coach Brady Cowell's sparkling Freshman basketball squad went through the most brilliant season in recent years. Winning nine out of 10 games during the course of the regular season, the squad finished in the finals of the state A. A. U. tournament, and was declared state co-champions. The squad was tall and well-tempered. A number of the freshman players will add considerably to varsity strength next year.

Freshman players named for numerals are Carl Putz, Everett Whitman, Bob Barnes, Bob Jones, Bryan Jennings, Frank Foltz, Eddie Kaleel, and Charles (Bonehead) Wilson.

The W. A. A. has been running from one activity to another this year. The intramural program has been fuller than ever of interesting competition among the teams, with bowling, box hockey, horseshoes and handball as additional games on the program. Second semester found the W. A. A. busily working on three special activities of entertainment: first came the annual Stetson-Rollins Sports Day on March 9th, with a Chinese motif carried out in decorations and plans; the following week end, March 16th, a rather unusual 'Comic Strip' Play Day was held for the high school girls, the annual program for entertaining the girls of nearby high schools; and the most important event was on April 12th and 13th when the 3rd Annual All State Sports Day met at Stetson for a 'Swing and Sway' good time, all of the colleges and universities of Florida being represented at the Sports Day.

Mr. Lawrence J. Bernard

A brilliant mind and an earnest government official is the distinction of Lawrence J. Bernard. As Assistant General Counsel of the Treasury Department in Washington, D. C., Mr. Bernard has supervision over all the Treasury Department legislative activities. Graduating third highest in the Stetson Law School in 1926, he had an outstanding scholastic record as well as ability in the athletic fields of football and basketball. After practising law in Florida for seven years, Mr. Bernard took a legal position in the N. R. A., now dissolved, and later accepted work as Special Assistant to the General Counsel of the Treasury where he made a survey of the legislative activities of the various bureaus and divisions and made recommendations which resulted in a number of important changes in the organization of the Treasury's Legal Division. In the fall of 1937 Mr. Bernard was detailed to the Bureau of Internal Revenue to handle the legal aspects of the reorganization of Mr. Morgenthau's "Decentralization Plan" of Federal tax administration. In 1938 he was appointed to his present position. Mr. Bernard is a member of the bar of the Florida Supreme Court, the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida, and the Supreme Court of the United States.

Debate

C. Addison Hickman, youthful teacher of the business administration department who has seen keen debating experience himself as a student in college several years ago, has brought Stetson University's young speakers through a year of lively competition.

The debates included meets with schools in Florida, a trip to the Pi Kappa Delta tournament in Knoxville, Tennessee, and an international debate on the campus with Oxford University.

Lydia Theurer and Vance Graham upheld the affirmative side of the issue of American isolation against the touring debaters from Oxford University in front of a record crowd in the Elizabeth Hall auditorium on November twenty-third. Both speakers put up a convincing argument against the two gentlemen from England in the first international debate held at the university.

Gadi Lawton and Vance Graham, both veteran speakers, did admirable work at the national Pi Kappa Delta tournament along with John Lewis, who, in his first year at Stetson University, shows remarkable ability and promise for future material in speaking. All three boys did fine work in the tournament which was held in Knoxville, Tennessee, March twenty-fifth to thirtieth.

Elizabeth Fisher, Irma French, and Arlene Vinall all turned in fine performances in debates with Florida universities which met at Stetson last October. Irma French and Ruby Amory debated with a team from the University of Vermont in April, and each participant shows promise for future debate contests.

The Volunteer Band is made up of those students who have volunteered for foreign mission service. Its purpose is to create a missionary spirit on the campus and to provide fellowship for those who have volunteered in this service. The group is a member of the Foreign Mission Fellowship, a national interdenominational organization.

Mr. Francis P. Whitehair

As a lawyer and a figure in politics, Francis P. Whitehair has had a successful career in his home state of Florida. A graduate of Stetson University in 1921, he was admitted to the Florida Bar at the age of twenty. After serving as a law clerk for five years, he was taken into partnership with Fish, Landis, and Hull, one of the recognized law firms of the state. Mr. Whitehair has served as attorney for county, school, and municipal units for sixteen years, and as special Assistant Attorney General of the United States. He is president of the Volusia County Bar Association and a member of the Florida and American Bar Associations. He is associated with the American Legion, Elks, Masonic lodges—Morocco Temple, Shrine, Royal Order of Jesters, and the DeLand and Florida Chambers of Commerce. At Stetson he was a member of the Sigma Nu and Phi Alpha Delta fraternities, and he has been named in the first edition of Who's Who Among Young Men of America.

Appreciation

The staff of the 1940 HATTER takes this opportunity to thank the following for their constructive criticism and skilled guidance.

Mrs. Mary Bailey, our faculty advisor, for her suggestions, interest, and never failing support.

The DeLand Photo Co. for their effort to achieve the best; and Mr. Hindery for being always on the job.

The Gulf State Printing Corp. - Mr. Ricker for his concern that things be just right.

There are, too, many students who, although they are not on my staff, have willingly helped whenever there was a deadline to be met. Also, I wish to thank all those unfortunate people who have listened to talk of HATTER all year long.

We also thank those firms who, through their advertisements, make this book possible.

To the staff for their cooperation, creative and tireless effort I say sincerely, "Thank you so much".

BUSINESS MEN:—

The Orlando Linen & Towel Supply Co., is a Florida Corporation, it is owned and operated by Floridians, who maintain a sizable pay roll, pay heavy Taxes, take active interest in promoting local institutions and projects, patronize local industry and merchants.

Every dollar received is spent in the territory served, encouraging local business, giving employment and assisting those in distress.

Our objective is to make Florida a more desirable place in which to live.

We are the only Linen & Towel Supply Co., servicing this community that can truthfully make the above assertions; obviously money spent with us benefits Florida; money sent out of the state hardly, if ever, returns.
